WITH THE AMERICAN ARMY IN FRANCE, June 24.—Major Theo Roosevelt, Jr., has been cited by the general commanding the troops for his "conspicuous gallantry of action during operations connected with the capture and subsequent defense of Cantigny." The citation says: "During an enemy raid he displayed a high quality of courage and leadership, going forward to supervise personally the action of one company of his battalion which had been attacked. On the day of our attack on Cantigny, although gassed in the lungs and gassed in the eyes to blindness, Major Roosevelt refused to be removed and retained command of his battalion under a heavy bombardment throughout the engagement."

ITALY ROUTS GERMANS

PARIS, June 24.—Dispatches say the Germans launched a new attack against the positions held by the Italians at Bligny on the west front at 11 o'clock last night. After hard fighting the Germans were completely repulsed with serious losses, leaving prisoners in the hands of the allies. The French repulsed a German attack in the region of Antheuil, west of the Oise.

CUTING WAR

(By Associated Press.)

Italians Build Bridges To Overtake the Austrians

(By Associated Press.)
LONDON, June 24.—After the recapture of Montello from the Austrians, according to afternoon news received here, the Italians began making bridge heads at Flaze Nervese. The Italians met little resistance. The retreating Austrians crossed the Piave by the only bridge left them north of Zensone.

When it was observed that the Austrians had begun a retrograde movement, the Italians began to attack virtually all along the Piave line from Montello on the north well toward the mouth of the river. The

May End War By Victory This Year

(By Associated Press.)
WASHINGTON, June 24.—Confidence is felt at Rome that the war may be brought to a victorious close this year if the allies give the Italians a full measure of support in the offensive which has been launched against the Austrians, is reflected in official wireless dispatches from Rome. These messages say the Austrian retreat across the Piave has become a veritable rout but information from secret sources show that many German divisions have been detached from the French front, and are being rushed to aid the Austrians.

(By Associated Press.)
LONDON, June 24.—A laconic bulletin from General Diaz announcing that the defeated Austrians are retreating in disorder with the Italians pursuing is the most heartening news received in the allied countries for many months. Although nothing is yet known of the exact extent of the Austrian defeat or how far the Italians and allies may be able to take full advantage, the statement of the Italian commander is hailed enthusiastically by the morning papers.

attack was quickly pressed and became more insistent, accompanied by violent artillery fire.

The number of guns left behind by the retreating Austrians has not been computed, but is said to be very great. The work of the American aviators who appeared on the front for the first time last week contributed notably to disorganization of the Austrian forces which crossed the Piave says Raffaele Garbini, correspondent of the Milan Secolo.

(By Associated Press.)
WASHINGTON, June 24.—The capture of 45,000 prisoners and an enormous store of war materials by the Italians in a counter offensive which has driven the Austrians across the Piave is announced in an official cablegram received by the Italian embassy from Rome.

(By Associated Press.)
WASHINGTON, June 24.—Though cheered by news of the Italians pursuing the defeated Austrian army across the Piave, Italian officials and military observers here are prepared to hear of the launching of another offensive movement supported by Germans withdrawn from France for the purpose.

Some officials suggested that the absence of any great enemy activity along the fronts in France and Flanders during the last few days, might be accounted for by the movement of German reinforcements toward Italy.

With Austria facing a famine revolt at home, it is believed the Germans will attempt to throw forces into the rescue to prevent grave consequences for her ally that are certain to follow real defeat at the hands of the allies.

Allied observers believe the unified command under Poch will hold their successes. Allied soldiers may be on the way to further strengthen the Italians.

FIRST HAND NEWS FROM TRENCHES
IMPARTED TO A CAPACITY HOUSE

The Airdome was packed to capacity last evening when Capt. Walter Kilroy Harris, of H. M. naval reserve, was announced to appear. The attendance was surprising in view of the fact that the officer did not arrive in Tonopah until 3 o'clock in the afternoon and it was generally understood that he would not be here before tonight. The change was due to a desire to overtake dates at Yerington, Fallon and Reno. The Nye County Council of Defense sent out criers throughout the city with megaphones and the Musicians' Union band turned out and paraded the business district until the news was pretty well circulated. Promptly at 8:30 Judge Averill called the meeting to order and the band played the American national anthem followed by "God Save the King," both of which were accepted by the audience standing.

The introductory remarks were confined to the personality of the visiting soldier who was described as author, journalist, soldier and explorer. The stage was decorated with the colors of the allies, the French and British flags festooning the sides while the Stars and Stripes hung from the center. Captain Harris appeared in the uniform of his rank and displayed two decorations for bravery on the field of battle. As an orator the captain makes no pretensions, for he is a writer who has won distinction in the field of literature, but his earnestness and the subject which was
